

Unite immigration helpline

Are you concerned about how Brexit will affect your right to live and work in the UK?

Unite now has a Brexit immigration law helpline with free legal advice for all Unite members.

Call now on 0333 323 1291

The helpline provides members with access to Unite Legal Services' team of specialist immigration lawyers.

"Unite's helpline is designed to cut through the government's indifference and inaction by providing the clear and concise information that our members who are originally from outside the UK desperately need,"

Howard Beckett, Unite assistant general secretary for legal services.

Calls are charged at local rates. You will need to provide your membership number, employer details (if employed), summary of your query and your contact details. Your details will then be passed to Unite's team of specialist immigration lawyers who will call you back.

This service is available to Unite members only. Members must be up-to-date with membership subscriptions and have been a member for at least 4 weeks' to qualify for this service.
